ATTRACTIONS COMING TO CAPITAL THEATERS

Naried Program Is Offered by Theaters and Resorts for Capital Residents.

Belasco.

Washington Square Players to the Belasco Theater next in a repertoire of ten plays. The players will present three different programs during the week. The plays will be given in the following order: Monday and Tuesday evening and Wednesday matinee, "A Bear," by Anton Tchekhov; "Moondown," by John Reed; "A Miracle of St. Anthony," by Maeterlinck, and "Helena's Husband," Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday evening, "Literature," by Arthur Schnitzler; "A Roadhouse in Arden," by Philip Moeller; "Interior," by Maeterlinck, and "Pierre Patelin," a fifteenth century farce; Saturday matinee and evening, "In April," by Rose Pastor Stokes; "Helena's Husband," by Moeller; "Eugenically Speaking," by Edward Goodman, and "A Miracle of St. Anthony," by Maeterlinck, players will present three dif-

Abe Potash and Mawruss Perlmutter

Abe Potash and Mawruss Perlmutter are again to be in evidence at the National Theater next week, commencing Monday night, in "Potash and Perlmutter.

Montague Glass, who created these heroes of the cloak and suit industry, is one of the subhors, and the other is Roi Cooper Megrue, whose ability as a playwright is attested by the popularity of his two great successes, "Under Cover" and "It Pays to Advertise."

This time we have the partners in the period of their prosperity. Under the inspiration of Wall Street financiers, Mawruss has been seized with a get-rich-quick ambition, and goes in for developing the old business into the Cloak and Suit Company of North America, with a big capitalization of stock to be unloaded on the public, and grand offices on Fifth avenue. Abe Potash retains his old conservatism, and gets out legitimately with his interest in cash.

Barney Bernard, originator of the role of Abe Potash, will be seen locally for the first time.

In this new play the character of Perlmutter is subordinated to that of Potash, so that Mr. Bernard has really become a featured player in a part, which is likely to furnish this clever comedian with steady employment for a long time to come. The sale of seats opens tomorrow.

Frances Alda-Ten Star Concert. Next Friday afternoon at the New National Theater, Mme, Frances Alda.

National Theater, Mme, Frances Alda. prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, assisted by Frank La Forge, planist, will be heard in the opening concert of the "Ten Star Concert Series."

Mme. Alda is one of the Capital's warmest favorites, her wonderful voice having firmly established her popularity here, and with Mr. La Forge also on the program an auspicious start not only for this series but for the real musical season in the Capital is assured.

Tickets for the entire series and for the single concert are on sale at the office of T. Arthur Smith, 1306 G street northwest.

Keith's.

Grace La Rue, following her second successful recital tour, has returned for another brief engagement in Keith vaudeville, and will head the bill next week at the B. F. Keith Theater. Giccolini, famous Italian grand opera singer, whom Nellie Melba declared the world's greatest tenor, will be heard for the first time. Lloyd and Britt are in the headline division in their new concoction called "A Vaudeville Mixture."

The Sixteen Navassar Girls will be another of the novel features.

Arthur Deagon, the comic songalogist, also makes his annual bow.

Gayety.

Jack Singer presents "Hello. New York!" at the Gayety Theater next week, with Lew Kelly featured.

Sunday night.

The management has inaugurated a new policy of beginning the attractions with the Sunday night performance rather than ending with them.

Will Fox and Harry M. Stewart as Plonsky and Pincus lead in "Keep Moving." There are sixteen song numbers by Von Tilzer and the big chorus is led by Ruth Terry, ingenue.

The songs in "Keep Moving" were bullt largely from the Honolulan melodies. Of course, there are Honolulan dances. Besides the big chorus the following principals support Fox and Stewart.

harles Raymond, Herbert Terry, Art E. Delmore, James Hall, Bart Joss, Root and White, May Thatcher Rich-ards, Ruth Terry, Alma Fleming.

Strand.

The phenomenal success of "Civilization" the past week at the Strand Theater has caused Tom Moore to hold this wonderful picture over for another week at the above-named playhouse. Thomas Ince has given the world a photographic masterpiece in "Civilization," a mammoth and stupendous spectacle that shows the utter futility of wartare in these enlightened days. It tells a graphic story of a king whose insatiable love of conquest plunges his country into war with other nations. His cousin, Count Ferdinand, has invented a death-dealing submarine, upon the success of which the King hopes to criumph in battle. Ferdinand, however, ioves a young girl who is a passenger upon an ocean liner that he is commanded to torpedo. In a vision he sees the awuful results of sinking the ship, the dreadful loss of life, and the sorrow it will bring to mankind. He refuses to carry out the King's orders, opens the sea valve, and founders the submarine. In the naval battles the United States navy co-operated with Ince to make masterpiece in "Civflization," a manisoveral innovations are promised for the manded to torpedo. He refuses to carry out the King's orders, opens the sea valve, and founders the submarine. In the naval battles the United States navy co-operated with Ince to make them effective.

An excellent company interprets the picture, the principal roles being played by Hbward Hickman, Enid Markey, Herschell Mayal, Lola May, S. K. French and others.

Several innovations are promised for the Halloween dance to be given by the Elks on the evening of October 31. Decorations in which goblins and fairy sprites will play a prominent part have been arranged and a program of dance music, typical of Halloween, has been completed.

The music will be under direction of Prof. Zimmermann, who will direct the Soldiers' Home Band Orchestra.

In addition to the terpsichorean festivities there will be refreshments. Frank Pierce is chairman of the affair and W. H. Woodcock is chairman of the dance committee, while Walter Mack will be his assistant.

chorus of forty soloists, and the Strand Symphony Orchestra, augmented, will be conducted by Prof. Louis Maurice, of New York.

Garden.

Bessie Barriscale will head the double feature program at Moore's Garden Theater Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday in a novel comedy dramatic picture staged by Thomas Ince, and entitled "Plain Jane." It is a sort of an up-todate version of Cinderella. Jane in the piece is an ugly little duckling of a country family, who is thrust aside for her better looking sisters at every turn. Rebellious she runs away resolved to seek fortune in the big city.

Strangely enough when she reaches the Metropolis and begins to fix up a bit and wear neat clothes there come

"Hello, New York!" which was written by Junie McCree, a humorous writer, possesses scenes and dialogue that embody the true spirit of burlesque and contains an abundance of those requirements that are essential to this form of amusement.

The central figure is "Professor Dope," Kelly's famous characterization, to whom the author has given a completely new supply of witty lines and fresh comedy bits.

Fifteen scenes are employed in the presentation of the new work, and there is said to be a lavish exhibition of costs is said to be a lavish exhibition of costuming. Kelly is supported by Lon Hascall. James Tenbrooke, Coley Lorella, Ernest Otto, Nettle Nelson, and Earl and Marie Gates.

"Neep Moving," described as a kaleidoscopic musical excitement of topics and events in two acts, will be the offering at Poli's Theater beginning next Sunday night.

He said that his action was the re-sult of "an inspiring talk," which he sult of "an inspiring talk," which he recently had with the President regarding the "forward movement among women. Mr. Ford had previously given women in his factories the eight-hour day, but not the minimum wage of $5.

Mr. Ford said when he got off the train: "Oh, I've come down to get on the band wagon." He then made it known that he was planning an advertising campaign in Mr. Wilson's behalf that would "attract attention all over the country." He will place big advertisements in all the leading papers. telling why the President should be reelected.

Explains His Course.

Mr. Ford made this brief statement in explanation of his course toward his in explanation of his course toward his women employes:

"I had the pleasure to inform President Wilson this afternoon that I had established the women workers of my plant at Detroit and in the branch factories in other cities upon a pay equality with the men workers. I took this step following my conference with the President more than two weeks ago. This principle is now in operation, and lloook forward with complete confidence to its vindication."

About 1,500 women who are now employed in the Ford factories in the lighter forms of labor will be affected by the new wage schedule. The minimum wage of $5 for men, the establishment of which created a sensation in the industrial world several months ago, has been working out, with entire satisfaction, Mr. Ford said, and he saw no reason why its effect on the women workers should not be as good as it has proved on the men.

Experience Justifies Theory. Experience Justifies Theory.

"My experience with the eight-hour day has completely justified the theory of the shorter work day," Mr. Ford said. "I find that the hours that are cut off are easily made up by the added efficiency of the men, and I hope to

The part which Mr. Ford is to take in the Wilson campaign, he said, does not conflict with the remarks he made the last time he was here that he wouldn't give a cent to the campaign fund. Mr. Ford will place his advertisements a few days before election, and in them he will give the voters his views on peace and the eight-hour day, and will advocate support of Mr. Wilson much after the maner of the advertisements with which he 'ought the greater armament movement.

He intends L. concentrate his efforts particularly on New York, as he considers it most important that the Empire State should swing into line behind the President. He has established New York headquarters at the Hotel Biltmore, from which he will direct the fight, and from now on he intends to have it understood that his "coat is off" for Mr. Wilson.
